Brown's Hotel

Brown's Hotel, quintessentially British with a hint of the unexpected. London's first hotel boasts 115 authentically-designed rooms and suites designed by Olga Polizzi each plays tribute to the hotel's illustrious heritage and world-renowned charm. The Kipling Suite, the jewel in Brown's crown of suites, honours Rudyard Kipling who famously wrote 'The Jungle Book' at the hotel. Home to some of London's finest dining experiences, Brown's signature Donovan Bar takes inspiration from its namesake, iconic 1960's photographer Terence Donovan; Beck at Brown's, the restaurant, serves seasonal Italian fare by renowned three Michelin-starred chef Heinz Beck; and The English Tea Room, where Queen Victoria took tea, honours the quintessentially British custom of serving traditional afternoon tea. Welcome to Brown's Hotel. Where history endures and the legacy continues.
